Training for a global market

Thomson Reuters Compliance Learning courses offer an extensive global program, tailored to various regions and encompassing a wide range of topics. Our courses are supported in over 25 languages and include subjects such as Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing; MiFID II; Modern Slavery; Conduct Risk; Employee Conduct and Business Ethics; Market Conduct and Fraud; Prevention of Corrupt Practices; Privacy, Confidentiality and Information Security; and Risk Management.

Global courses

Our courses foster awareness and are comprehension-based, conceptual and principle-driven, as well as address topics that span globally. They include compliance directives and recommendations to prevent risk from all regulatory bodies.

Region-specific courses

Our region-specific courses are designed for topics that differ in regulation and application across different countries. They include carefully selected case studies, enforcement cases, news articles, business-related scenarios and examples to demonstrate relevance, enhance understanding and aid with retention.

Game-based learning

Gamification has become an increasingly effective learning tool, as this type of learning provides a fun and more interactive way for employees to engage with the content.

The underlying objective of investing in compliance training is not only that employees start and finish a course, but also that they understand the content and apply it in their day-to-day business activities. The game-based learning method can exponentially increase attention, engagement and knowledge conversion by clarifying abstract and difficult concepts.

Options fit for every business need

Thomson Reuters Compliance Learning courses are fully customizable and scalable to fit the exact learning objectives set by your business.

We offer a full range of options and can work with you to personalize any aspect to meet your specific requirements.
